You play as a particularly round cat who LOVES jumping. It will be a platformer where you jump from tree branch to tree branch, from cloud to cloud, then from star to star with the goal of reaching the moon (the vibe is more whimsy than scientific accuracy). You can get power-ups along the way that give skills like a slower fall speed, or higher jump. If you fall you have to start from the bottom of the tree again but can keep powerups from before up to 9 lives. (because fall within a mid-poly range, with super exaggerated features, and bright colors.
